Rodeo Time

We are coming up on this year's Tucson Rodeo and its not only the cowboys going for a wild ride. Searching for scholarships and jobs can feel a lot like riding a bucking bronco and just trying to hold on. Hopefully, this newsletter will give you useful help with your college and career adventures.

College Steps for the Spring Semester

Now that Spring semester is here, what should your college timeline look like?

Q: What is the college application deadline?

A: Different schools have different application deadlines. If you have not yet, make sure to check each school you plan to apply to and add that deadline in your calendar. A lot of deadlines begin in January. Also, read about the differences between Early Action, Early Decision, and Rolling Admissions.

Q: What is financial aid season?

A: Financial Aid season is here! By now, you should have completed most of your college applications, which means it is time to start focusing on applying for financial aid. This means you not only need to complete your FAFSA (See Page 4), but also to apply for other scholarships including ones from the schools you have been accepted to and ones from private organizations or donors (See Page 7).

Give Yourself Plenty of Time

Do not wait until a deadline to start on a task. If a college application is due on the 15th of February, plan to start completing it a month earlier to give yourself plenty of time to work on a personal statement, send in test scores and transcripts, and review your application with a parent/guardian or with your College and Career Readiness Coordinator (See Below).

"If I cannot do great things, I can do small things in a great way."

-Martin Luther King, Jr.

"It is often the small steps, not the giant leaps, that bring about the most lasting change."

-Queen Elizabeth II

"Nothing is impossible. The word itself says 'I'm possible!'"

-Audrey Hepburn

If you need to take or retake the SAT, this is the latest recommended date to do so to be able to send in your scores with college applications. Click Here to Register

March Dates

- ◇ March 7—Grading Day: No School
- ◇ March 10-14: Spring Break: This is a wonderful time to wrap up and submit any remaining financial aid applications you have, including FAFSA (which you should have done by now) and other scholarship applications. You should enjoy the time off, but take advantage of the free time to stay productive and work towards your future. You should also be thinking about making your final decision about what college you will attend next year if you have not done so yet.
- ◇ March 26—Professional Learning Day: No School

FAFSA ALERT—OPEN NOW

The Federal Application for Free Student Aid (FAFSA) is an essential part of the college process. This federal form is used to determine your eligibility for need-based financial aid. Make sure to have your parents or legal guardians with you to provide household financial information. The FAFSA opened on December 1st and should be completed by you as soon as possible.

FAFSA FAQs

Here are some answers to common FAFSA questions:

Q: Where can I complete the FAFSA?

A: Go to StudentAid.gov to complete the FAFSA or Click Here.

Q: If my parents make a lot of money, should I still complete the FAFSA?

A: Yes. The FAFSA is often a requirement for other scholarships, not just scholarships based on financial need. You do not want to miss out on a scholarship because you did not fill it out.

Q: If I am an undocumented or DACA student, can I complete the FAFSA?

A: It depends. DACA students with a Social Security Number are eligible to complete the FAFSA. For non-DACA undocumented students, you cannot complete the FAFSA. However, there is a ton of financial aid out there so contact your school's college counselor (See page 1) to learn more in a confidential setting. You can also Click Here to learn more about the FAFSA for undocumented and DACA students.

Q: Where can I find other FAFSA FAQs?

A: Click Here to see more popular questions people have about the FAFSA.

FAFSA Prize Incentives

Your school might be offering prize giveaways or other incentives for completing the FAFSA beginning in January. Talk to your school's College and Career Counselor (See Page 1) to find out if your school participates.

College Fairs and Tours: In-Person and Virtual

College fairs offer a wonderful opportunity for students to meet college admissions advisors from many universities in a single setting. When the COVID-19 pandemic affected in-person events, many virtual college fairs popped up, allowing students to explore myriad colleges from home and to meet college representatives who might not travel to Tucson for an in-person fair, including those from East Coast, Southern, and Midwest schools. Below you will find information about virtual college tours and information on virtual college fairs offered by the National Association for College Admissions Counseling (NACAC).

The College Tour is an amazing website that provides multiple, detailed, and engaging video tours of colleges all over the country. Not only do the videos help you tour campus from the comfort of your home, but they also highlight the fun aspects of student life including dorms and eateries, student events, recreation centers, and so much more. If you cannot make a campus visit, use The College Tour to check out schools outside of Tucson. Click Here to Start Exploring Virtual College Tours

NACAC Virtual College Fairs

NACAC Virtual College Fairs are online, remote fairs for students and parents to attend from home. They typically have between 200-300 schools represented at each fair, so you need to register and indicate which schools you plan to meet with during the event. All NACAC Virtual Fairs take place in the middle of the day on a Saturday or Sunday.

NACAC Fair Schedule:

- February 16th
- March 23rd
- April 27th

Requesting Letters of Recommendation

Letters of recommendation are often required for college and scholarship applications. In some cases, they are optional, but submitting a good letter of recommendation is always a safe bet. Consider all the information below when requesting letters of recommendation from teachers or counselors:

- ◇ Make a formal request to your recommender at least three weeks before a recommendation letter is due. Teachers and counselors are very busy and writing a letter of recommendation takes time. Ask early to give them plenty of time to write you a good letter.
- ◇ Be ready to provide a resume to your recommender. School staff do not have your whole list of achievements and interests memorized, so provide a resume that includes your extracurriculars, major accomplishments and awards, volunteer or community service experience, employment experience if applicable, and additional skills to make the letter writing process easier.
- ◇ Make sure you are requesting the right recommender. Some colleges want a letter from a teacher, others from a counselor, and some from both. Make sure you know who the school wants a letter.
- ◇ Know that you might not be able to read a letter of recommendation. Students have a legal right to see letters of recommendation written for them, but a lot of colleges and the CommonApp ask students to waive that right to ensure they do not have influence over the letter writing process and that the letter is honest and true. It is recommended that you do waive your rights to see a letter, so make sure you are confident that your recommender will write a good letter.
- ◇ Write a thank you letter. It is proper to provide a formal thank you to whoever writes a letter for you. Don't forget!

College Spotlight

The University of New Mexico is a public research university in Albuquerque, New Mexico, United States. Founded in 1889 by the New Mexico Territorial Legislature, it is the state's second oldest university, a flagship university in the state and the largest by enrollment, with 22,630 students in 2023.

UNM's Motto is "Individuals Together" and that's the way they see themselves. They're a community of unique perspectives embracing divergence – unafraid to let their colors run and blend – letting the very things that divide people become the things that connect them to each other. What makes people different makes UNM strong – and a force to be reckoned with.

Understanding Financial Aid: The Big Picture

The world of financial aid can be confusing, so you can use this general overview to gain some basic understanding of how to get money for college:

Q: What types of scholarships are out there?

A: Financial aid comes in a few forms. Scholarships are free money that can be given by the college you attend (called internal scholarships) or by private organizations and donors (called external scholarships). Normally, you will find out about potential scholarships a specific college once you are accepted for admission, either in your acceptance letter or shortly after. Scholarships can be merit-based, given for your academic record, need-based, given for those in financial need, or diversity and leadership-based, given to students from marginalized communities or students who have a history of volunteering and leadership.

Q: What else is required for scholarships?

A: Did you take the ACT? The SAT? Both? Although not all scholarships require an SAT/ACT score, it is good to have one. Check the requirements for scholarships before you apply to make sure you qualify. Additional requirements might include a personal statement, a letter of recommendation, and/or transcripts.

Q: What other types of financial aid exist?

A: Besides scholarships, students can be eligible for grants and loans. Grants are free money you can get, like scholarships, that does not need to be repaid. The most common grant is the Federal Pell Grant, given to students with financial need who complete the FAFSA. You can read about your Pell Eligibility on the email you receive when you submit the FAFSA. Loans, however, need to be repaid. For most student loans, you do not need to make payments until you graduate from college. The most common loan students use is the Direct Safford Loan, a federal student loan that is also mentioned in your FAFSA submission email (See page 3 for FAFSA info).

Q. What is the order of tasks for getting financial aid?

A. While there is no perfect approach, you should 1. Complete the FAFSA and list colleges you plan to apply to on your FAFSA (See Page 3). Check if you are eligible to receive a Pell Grant. 2. Apply to colleges and read about any potential scholarships you are awarded. 3. Calculate the remaining cost of college by subtracting any scholarships and grants you have been offered from the cost of attendance. 4. Search for and apply to additional scholarships to bring you total cost of attendance as close to zero as possible (See Page 3 for scholarship search engines).

ACT Re-Testing Preparation

If you are looking to re-take the ACT to boost your score and help with college applications or scholarship eligibility, we have something for you. Revolution Prep, a well known and respected company in the test prep industry, has graciously offered to provide a suite of free test prep services to TUSD students. One of the best ways to prepare for an ACT test is to do practice tests in the same setting and with the same time restrictions as the real thing.

From your own home, you can do a real ACT practice test and get feedback on what areas you need to improve on. The test is real-world accurate, with the same amount of time and number of questions as the real ACT.

Unique Scholarship Opportunities

ABOUT OUR EDUCATION SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year, the Trico Foundation awards scholarships to Trico Members and their families to attend a university, community or vocational college. Since 1985, the Trico Foundation has awarded over $4.7 million – benefiting over 778 students – in scholarships to Members and their families.

WHO CAN APPLY

To be eligible to receive a Trico Foundation Scholarship, applicants must:

- Be a Trico Member, spouse of a Member or dependent child who is claimed as a dependent on the Member's federal tax return.
- Be a full-time undergraduate student at an accredited college, university, vocational school or other post high school educational institution, or will be a full-time student in the fall.
- Carry a minimum course load of 12 credit hours.
- Have a cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or greater.

APPLY FOR A SCHOLARSHIP

Trico is now accepting applications for the 2025-26 academic year. Some things to keep in mind before applying:

- The name on the application must be the name of the student applying.
- Please use an email that you check regularly as email is the easiest way for us to contact students.
- There are TWO parts to the application. Once you complete the General Information portion of the application, you must click "Submit Application." You will have to go to your Dashboard to complete "follow-ups" for the scholarship you qualify for. If you don't see any scholarships, it means you didn't meet the requirements of the scholarship.
- Students must submit their official transcripts and a letter of recommendation. Please allow plenty of time to complete this follow-up work. It is the student's responsibility to make sure their official transcript and letter of recommendation have been uploaded to their application. Only applications that include these documents will be accepted.
- The deadline to apply is March 6, 2025.
- Students who already have bachelor's degrees are NOT eligible for the Trico Foundation scholarship.

Scholarships for Undocumented Students WHAT IS PROP 308?

WHAT IS PROP 308?

Prop 308 provides in-state tuition for Undocumented high school graduates in Arizona if they meet a set of qualifications.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Attended a school in Arizona for a minimum of two years
- Graduated from a public school, private school, or homeschool in Arizona or attained a GED in AZ

FOR SOME CONTEXT

STATE AID

State financial aid is now available to Undocumented students even if they don't meet the Prop 308 residency requirements. This includes fee waivers, tuition waivers, scholarships, and grants given by colleges or organizations. Each opportunity will have its own requirements.

FEDERAL AID

Undocumented students cannot receive federal aid such as FASFA and the Pell Grant. We do not recommend Undocumented or DACAmented students apply unless a scholarship asks for it.

IF I DO NOT MEET THE REQUIREMENTS FOR PROP 308, WHAT ARE MY OPTIONS?

If you don't qualify for in-state tuition under Prop 308, you can still receive state aid if you meet the requirements of the specific opportunity. You can also apply to private scholarships.

PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS

All students pay the same tuition at private institutions. Private institutions are able to offer financial aid to students regardless of immigration status. Some examples in AZ are Grand Canyon University and Prescott College.
